If you didn't go to Siena the night before you can feel free to grab a taxi and go explore in the morning by yourself and maybe enjoy a lunch in the square. 1:30 pm – Depart hotel

VISIT AND TASTING AT BADIA A COLTIBUONO

First established as a hillside abbey in the eleventh century, Badia a Coltibuono is an historic property with meticulously preserved gardens, buildings, and wine cellars. The current owners, the Stucchi-Prinetti family, are now in their 6th generation of producing first-class Chiantis from their organic vineyards to the south of the property. #### CASTELLO DI BROLIO

Dating back to 1141, the Castello di Brolio is the oldest winery in Italy and the fourth longest-lived family-owned company in the world. We are given access to the family's private areas of the castello where you'll learn about the role of Bettino Ricasoli, the "inventor" of the Chianti formula, and former prime Minister of Italy, twice. We cap it off with an amazing tasting including older vintages in the family's private dining room. www.baronericasoli.com

VISIT AND DINNER AT FÈLSINA

The Fèlsina property has been producing grapes, olives, and other agricultural products for more than 1,000 years but has been owned by the Poggiali family since 1966. Their global success started in 1983 with the launch of their pure Sangiovese wine labels "Fontalloro" and "Rancia" – the latter a single-vineyard Chianti Classico Riserva that is among the very best from the region. More than just Sangiovese wines, Fèlsina also produces the world-class Chardonnay "Il Sisti" and a traditional sweet Vin Santo. We have dinner here with a selection of these amazing wines, set in an atmosphere that always seems to bring out the fun and laughter in everyone. It's a perfect Tuscan experience for our last dinner. www.felsina.it/en
